DENIAL BY JOHNSON.

The End of the American League Not Close at Hand.

Chicago, Nov. 22.—President Johnson of the American Base Ball League denied yesterday the statements made on Monday by Charles Comiskey of the Chicago club of the American league, to the effect that under the management of Mr. Johnson the end of the American league is close at hand and that the American league will ultimately be compelled to combine with the National league on the latter's own terms.

"The American league," said President Johnson, "had last year the most prosperous period of its existence, and it is ridiculous to say that we will give up our position and combine with the National league."

The Over the Tencups club will meet with Mrs. J. W. McDonald Thursday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.
